

Shenzhen Skypark

The Shenzhen Skypark project revalues a former unused rooftop of an infrastructure building, converting it into a recreational strip, with the Shenzhen skyline as a stunning backdrop. As a way of giving back to the neighborhood, the park connects to adjacent buildings via sky bridges, bringing students and sports enthusiasts on a platform designed for them – connecting educational institutions with the local community. The unique combination of sports and recreational offers are being tied together with the landscape. The park aims to enable a healthy urban lifestyle that complements the city’s youthful, entrepreneurial spirit. The positive atmosphere has an encouraging effect on the sport practitioners and Shenzhen Skypark is now a cherished place where many people gather together.

